God Meant It for Good
Genesis 50:15-21

170625

We come to the end of the message of Genesis. Perhaps we will come back later to fill in some of the gaps. Here we find an explanation of how God used a particularly difficult time in a young man's life. We see the misunderstanding on the part of Joseph's brothers. Too often God's actions are misinterpreted because of our humanity. Here, the brothers of Joseph came to ask him for what he had already given. Let's look at the unfolding drama.

Joseph's brothers meant him harm. Genesis 37:18-20

God rescued him. Genesis 37:26-28

God gave Joseph a place to stay. Genesis 39:1-2

God moved him at the right time. Genesis 39:21-22

Joseph was in the right place. Genesis 41:15-16

God brought Joseph to the throne. Genesis 41:38-40

In order to bring Israel to Egypt. Genesis 45:27-28

So he could prepare them to return to Canaan. Exodus 1:8-10

Throughout this whole story we can see the unseen hand of God guiding in unusual ways. That should not seem strange to us because our "unusual" is often really God's "usual"! When we're going through difficult times we need to remember that God is still there overseeing our situation. We need to know that even when men around us mean to do us harm our God is there to do us good. The story of Joseph tells us that God can use the worst possible conditions to accomplish his purpose for his people. Never assume that God is taken by surprise when things do not go well for us. Not only does he know what's happening he controls what's happening. Cast your cares on God because he cares for you.
